

make nav bar vertical to fit on phone heading and description in one column about me will flow into next page. User can swipe to see content make socials in one column, rather than next to each other icons and description fit into one column put projects heading on new page for simplicity purposes but it will span six columns and come straight after services span 3 column or the grid width 2 display an about and fits into one column on phone